1. The following has been agreed upon by the High Contracting Parties, on the one hand taking cognizance of the contents of the treaty of Friendship, collaboration and mutual assistance which was signed today, 4 February 1948, by the Popular Rumanian Republic and the USSR (and of which this Protocol is an integral part), and on the other hand taking into consideration the common interests of the High Contracting Parties in bringing about a more uniform and closer relationship between the two countries:

Article 1. For the purpose of safeguarding their independence and territorial integrity in the event of possible aggression, as already defined in Article 1 of said treaty, all international political activity of the High Contracting Parties shall first be subject to general examination. With this purpose in mind, the Ministries of Foreign Affairs of the two countries will maintain permanent contact.

Article 2. For the same purpose mentioned in Article 1 above, and in order to assure themselves of a powerful instrument for the defense of the peace, the Popular Rumanian Republic will send to the USSR a number of officers and non-commissioned officers who will familiarize themselves with the newest war equipment. The USSR will send to the Rumanian Republic a number of officers, non-commissioned officers and instructors to keep the Rumanian units au courant of the newest techniques and methods of modern warfare. Details for the implementation of this exchange of officers, the fixing of their number, as well as all other questions in this connection, will be embodied in a special Protocol directive, which will be concluded by the above contracting parties in mutual agreement.

- Article 3. In the event of a conflict, each country pledges itself to place at the disposal of the other all its natural, industrial and economic resources, its civilian and military assistance, including means of transportation and adequate personnel, as will be specified in the Protocol referred to in Article 2 above.
- Article 4. In view of the modernization of the industry of the Popular Rumanian Republic, there will be set up in mutual agreement an industrial Protocol, which will set out all necessary details for participation and its most rapid implementation, in order that the industry may be in a position to meet all demands placed upon it in time of peace as well as in time of war, and from the multiple viewpoint of competence and workmanship as well as the modernization of its machinery.
- Article 5. The High Contracting Parties reserve all rights in questions of internal political affairs, but are nonetheless bound not to permit within their respective national territory any organization or manifestations of a nature which might jeopardize the friendship of the two countries.
- Article 6. All conditions of a general nature contained in the treaty of friendship, collaboration and mutual assistance signed today in Moscow between the Popular Rumanian Republic and the USSR, of which this Protocol is an integral part, will be equally and compulsorily applicable to this Protocol.
